

Languages of the World / Materials

The LW/M Series gives an overview of the basic grammatical structures of languages from all continents. This series includes grammars on modern as well as on classical languages, major and minor languages, dialects and 'endangered' languages. Several of these grammars are the first grammatical documents of the respective language ever. The series gives the reader an understanding of the diversity of human language in general. All grammars have chapters on Phonetics/Phonology, Morphology, Syntax and offer one or more sample texts with interlinear translation.
